

TIGER

1. Tigers are the largest cats. They are powerful. They have striking coats with black stripes on an orange background.

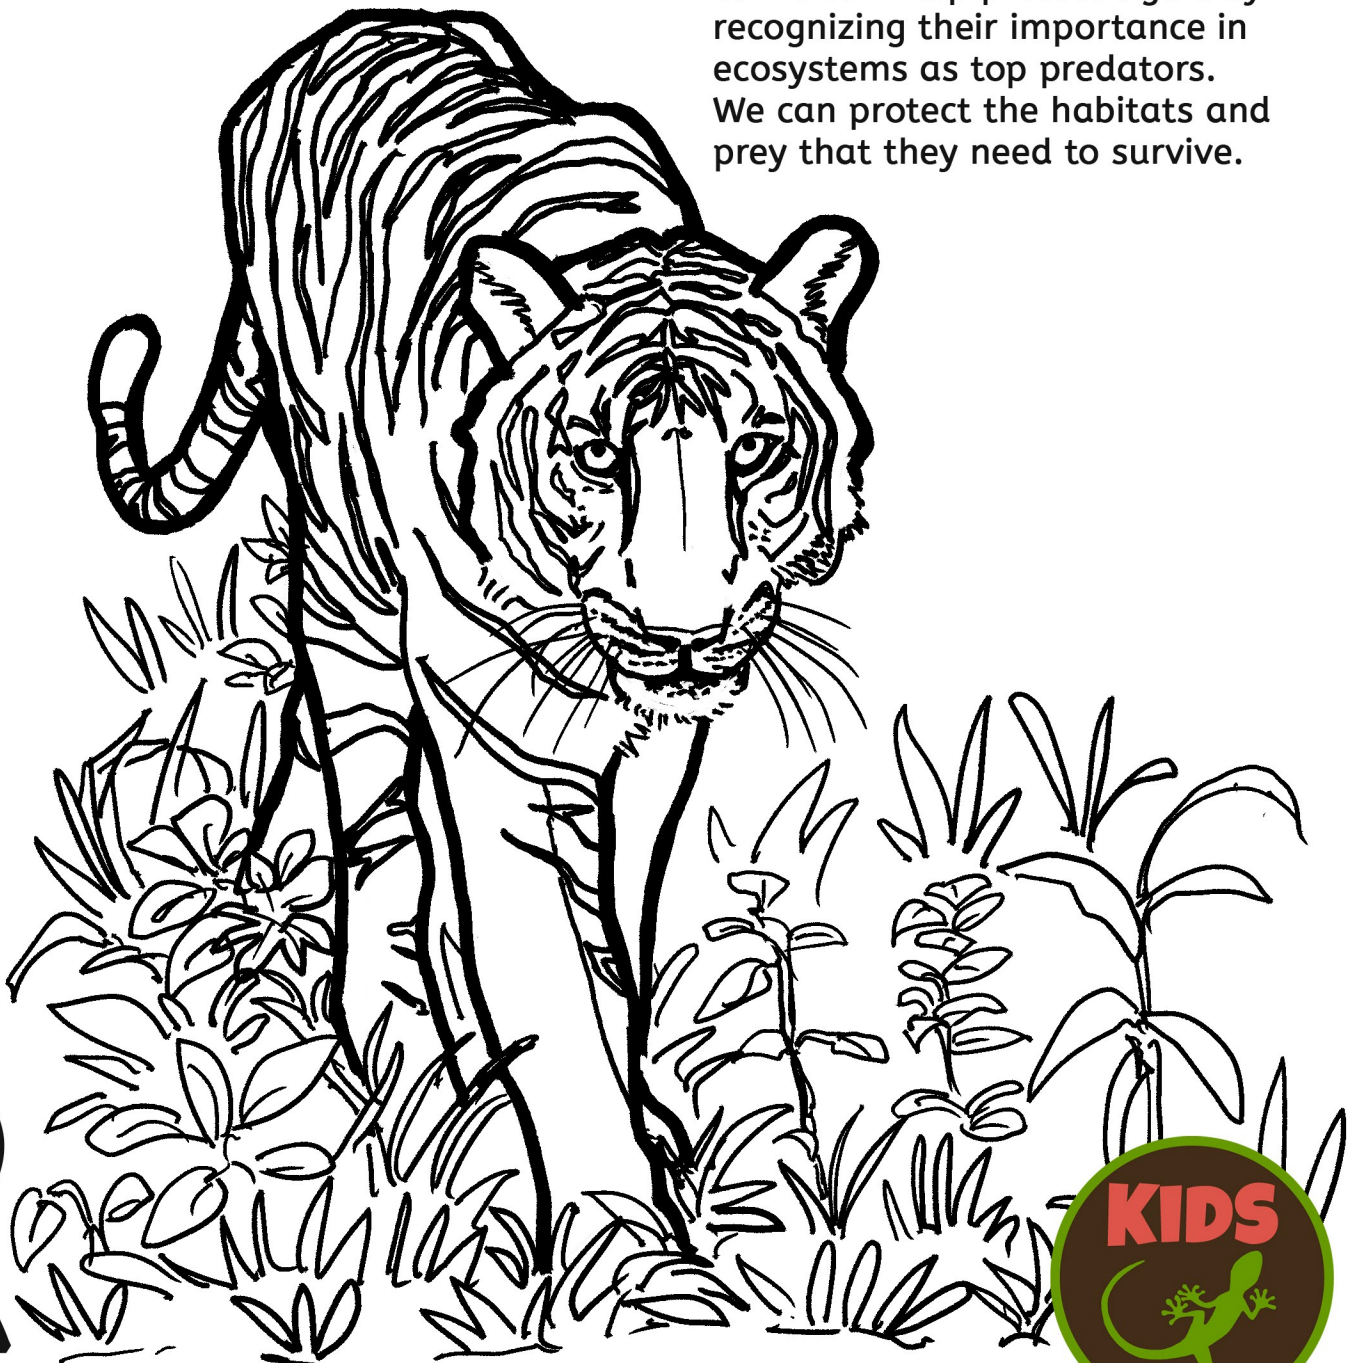

2. Tigers are found in parts of India, Russia, China, and Sumatra. Historically, they ranged over a more widespread area.

3. Tigers need large, healthy wild spaces. Tigers can live in rainforests, dry forests, grasslands, and mangroves.

4. Tigers need wild prey to feed on – like deer, pigs, and water buffalo. Their coat markings help them camouflage (or hide) from prey.

5. Tigers are endangered. Buying illegal tiger products – like skins or traditional medicines made from tiger parts – hurts tiger populations.

6. We can help protect tigers by recognizing their importance in ecosystems as top predators. We can protect the habitats and prey that they need to survive.
